

Summary

- 9 A social category, an alliance
- 11 Our common space
- 13 A covered gap
- 15 An unprecedented contribution
- 17 Justification

- 19 I. Introduction

- 23 II. Recovering the words
- 24 · The challenges

- 31 III. A long history
- 32 · Hippocrates
- 34 · Cicero
- 35 · The Middle Ages
- 37 · The modern European university
- 38 · Max Weber
- 39 · The 21st century

- 51 IV. Shared identity
- 54 · The missions of the professions. Forty professions, six missions, one city
- 57 · Human Rights
- 61 · Global challenges

- 65 V. A professional narrative for architects
- 66 · Ten remarks on the current situation of architecture
- 70 · A few structuring elements for a professional narrative for architecture

83	VI. In a world of cities
86	· The professional fact and the civitas
95	· The professional fact and the urbs
102	· The professional fact and politics
108	· Human Rights Policies and Global Challenges
114	· A City of Professions
123	VII. A different context
123	· Profession and gender
130	· Communication
134	· The Draft Statute for the European Professional
137	· Professional bodies
149	VIII. A difficult context
150	· The economic and entrepreneurial base of the professionals
158	· In the new society
177	· Deprofessionalisation
189	IX. Epilogue. The new citizenship and the art of the professionals
194	· The art of professionals
197	· Postscript. In Confinement, May 2020
199	X. Bibliography consulted